PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

A mid-century modern David Hentzel Hand Crafted walnut settee.

A mid-century modern American-craft hand-carved walnut settee designed and fabricated by David Hentzel who was an apprentice to Sam Maloof and worked in his studio for a time. Masterfully constructed in the manner of Maloof but with its own identity. Not a copy but definitely in the same masterfully crafted language. This is a phenomenal piece.

We have a complementary arm chair available separately. Hentzel is no longer producing commissioned studio furniture which makes his pieces quite rare.
